TITLE: Student Services Master Plan

PURPOSE:

The Student Services Master Plan is one of three institutional plans that articulates the context and scope of planning in each college service area. The Student Services programs at Sacramento City College will intersect with the overall planning system of the college at every level.

The new 2015 Student Services Master Plan is the result of the Sacramento City College (SCC) Strategic Planning System, a data driven planning cycle which provides guidance and direction on how Student Services will collaboratively work with the college. As part of the “Family of Plans” identified in the SCC Strategic Planning Framework, this Institutional Plan provides a comprehensive system of programs and services essential in order to assure an integrated student pathway through the college experience. It will also give an overview of the role and responsibilities of the Student Services departments, including the context on how each area operates. Student Services creates a welcoming and engaging environment for students and serves the student by integrating services, which contribute to student success at all stages of the students’ academic and human development. This work is accomplished by collaborating with all areas of the college.

INSTITUTIONAL OVERVIEW:

Background

Sacramento City College (SCC) is one of four colleges within the Los Rios Community College District (LRCCD) that serves the greater Sacramento (Capital) region. Located near downtown Sacramento, SCC serves a diverse population in the cities of Sacramento, West Sacramento, and Davis. Founded in 1916, Sacramento City College is the seventh oldest public community college in California and the oldest institution of higher learning in Sacramento. The College operates two Centers - one in West Sacramento located adjacent to the City of West Sacramento Civic Center and one in Davis at the University of California, Davis West Village. The Davis Center is the only community college center operating on a University of California campus.

Mission

Sacramento City College is an open-access comprehensive community college serving a diverse student population. We provide a wide-range of educational opportunities and support services leading to transfer, career advancement, basic skills development, degree, certificate attainment, and personal enrichment. Our commitment to continuous improvement through outcome-guided assessment, planning, and evaluation promotes student learning. Through these efforts, we contribute to the intellectual, cultural, and economic vitality of the community.

Vision

Sacramento City College seeks to create a learning community that celebrates diversity, nurtures personal growth, and inspires academic and economic leadership.

Values

Working Together – Pursuing Excellence – Inspiring Achievement

C7: Encourage collegiality, connection, and participatory decision-making at the college.

OVERVIEW OF INTEGRATED PLANNING PROCESS -- STUDENT SERVICES PROGRAMS AND COLLEGE PLANNING:

The student services programs at SCC intersect the overall planning system of the college at every level. Below is a summary of the Strategic Planning System at the college:

Planning Cycle

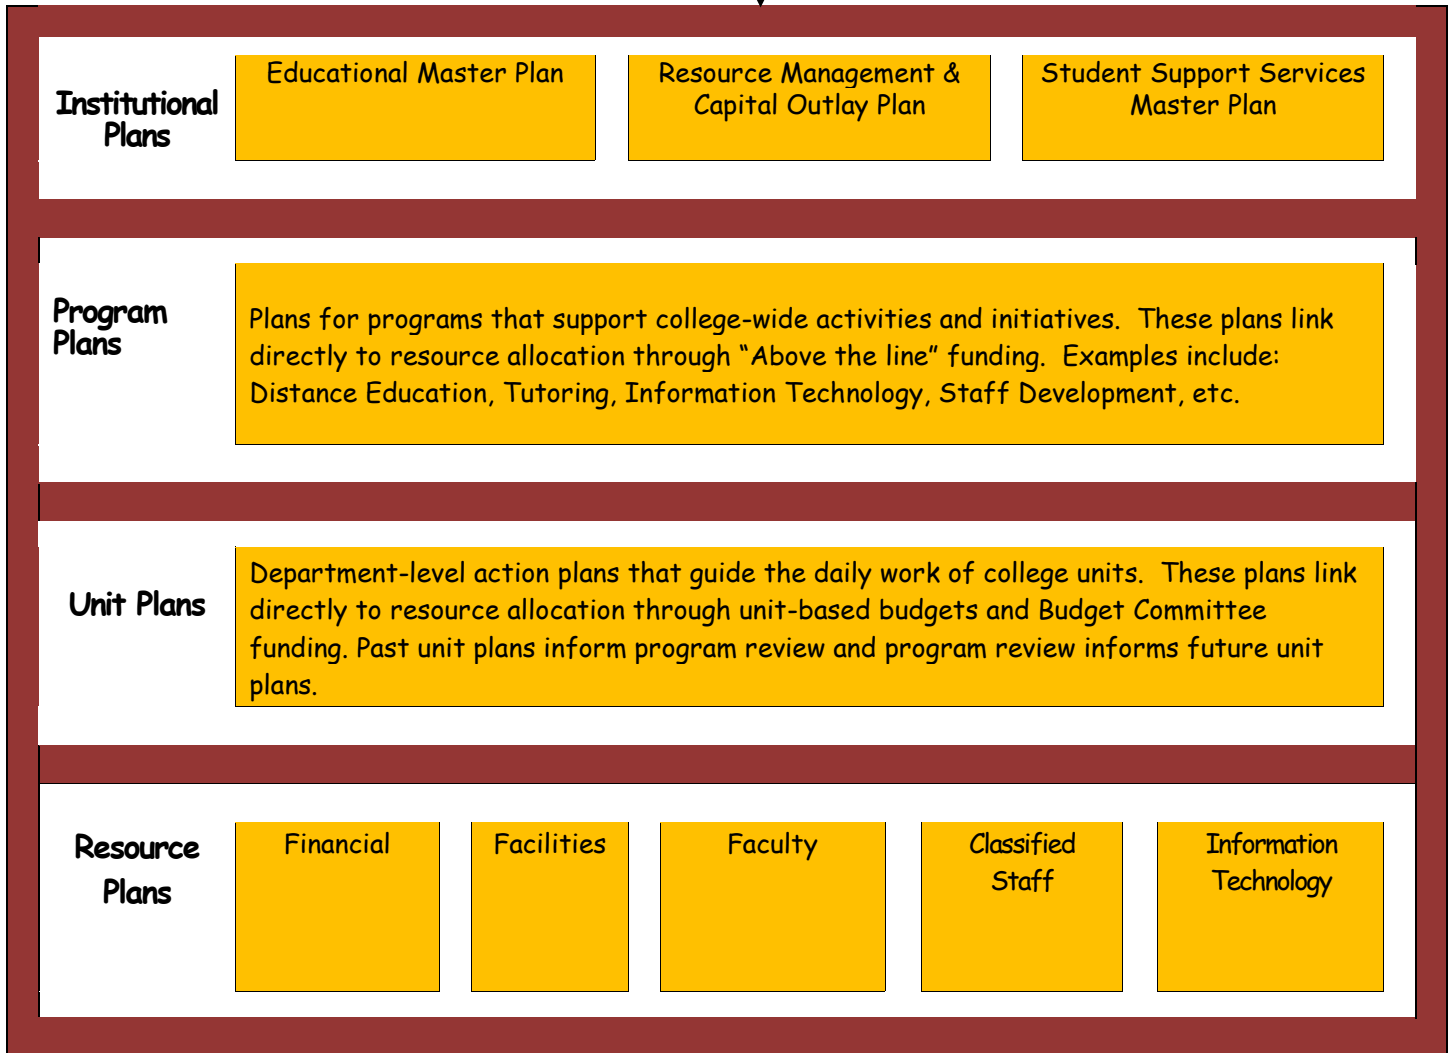

Overview, Timelines, and Key Components

The above chart illustrates (from left to right) planning for Student Services departments at the college. It begins and ends with the evaluation of data, in conjunction with the college’s strategic goals and directions to form objectives. These objectives will enable the college to accomplish its goals. The objectives are first articulated in the department’s and/or division’s unit plan; required resources – financial, facilities, faculty, classified staff, and or information technology – are requested through the appropriate resource plan. The “Family of Plans” referenced in the previous chart are illustrated by the following graphic.

SCC FAMILY OF PLANS

Strategic Master Plan

Certain programs require a different funding source, usually through "above the line funding." For example, in Student Services, both the Articulation Office and the Resource Center program fall into this category.

Once resources are allocated, outcomes of the objectives are evaluated based on measures of merit established when the objectives were first proposed. These measures indicate relative success of the projects and also become part of the feedback that the unit can be used for evaluation for the next planning cycle.

Data for Planning:

Both quantitative and qualitative data are reviewed throughout the SCC strategic planning process. This set of data includes:

- Institutional Effectiveness Reports
- Student data (enrollment, demographics, success, achievement, SLOs, etc.)
- Staffing data based on student need
- College metrics
- Program Reviews
- External environmental scan data
- Student and employee surveys
- Los Rios Community College District Strategic Plan information
- Accreditation Standards
- Survey Data (e.g., the Community College Survey of Student Engagement - CCSSE)
- Focus groups
- Department evaluations
- SARS data
- Student Feedback cards

Student Services Mission Statement:

The mission of Student Services is to provide seamless services and resources to current and prospective students and to support successful entry through orientation, assessment, counseling, education planning, placement, and achievement of their educational goals. To support student success, we will collaborate with our college-wide and community partners.

Student Services Guiding Principles:

FOCUS ON THE FRONT DOOR: Student Services will ensure that all new students feel welcomed from their earliest experience with the college and that they are channeled into and actively engaged in the experiences that matter most to their academic success.

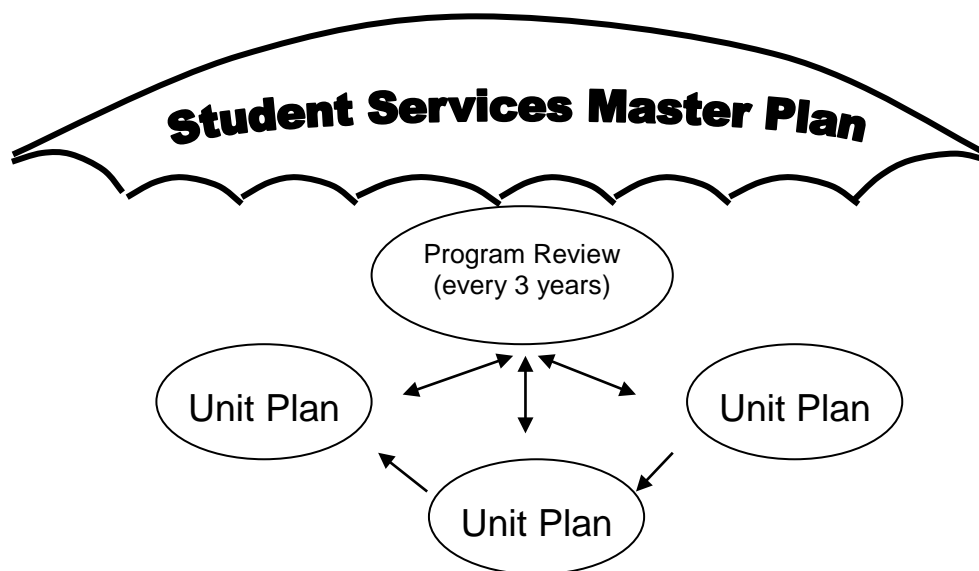

CREATE A CULTURE OF EVIDENCE: Student Services will ensure that its plans and actions are both meaningful and measurable. We will use evidence (data) within a collaborative framework to develop a shared sense of meaning to guide our decisions and to assess and continually improve our services.

COLLABORATE WITH EACH OTHER: Student Services will support and aggressively invest in the growth and development of one another in the spirit of collegiality, understanding that improving our service to students require collaboration across our student services units, our college, and our community.

CLOSE THE GAP: Student Services will create a supportive and dynamic campus environment that preserves and enhances the diversity and equity for students. In collaboration with the entire college community, we will identify and remove institutional barriers to student access and success, and therefore, close the access and achievement gaps for those who have been historically underrepresented and underserved by higher education.

ONE COLLEGE - MANY LOCATIONS: Student Services will ensure the consistent delivery of high-quality comprehensive services through varied ways in which students access the college: either in-person, main campus, outreach centers, or on-line.

STRATEGIC PLANNING SYSTEM:

Procedures

Student Services engages in several planning activities. The purpose of these planning activities is to be responsive to the changing needs of our students and community. Through cyclical planning procedures, we will analyze current and future needs, assess current services, identify gaps, identify critical actions and resources needed, as well as assess the impact of actions taken in the past. These procedures are designed to:

- provide a rigorous examination of the services and their outcomes
- engage units in planning program improvements that are responsive to student and community needs
- determine unit, area direction and goals for the next three years,
- foster cooperation and integration of services among Student Services divisions
- provide information for resource allocation.

All units within Student Services will participate in the college annual unit planning procedure as well as the Student Services three-year cycle of program review. In addition, categorical programs, including DSPS, CALWorks, EOP&S, and SSSP and Equity, will follow state-mandated planning and program review procedures.

Unit Plans

Unit Plans are developed once a year in the fall as part of the College Unit Planning process (described in the document Unit Plan). Units identify the objectives that they will work on to support the accomplishment of the Student Services vision and College Goals. Units refer back to the most recent Program Review document as a source for identifying possible objectives and outcome measures. Outcome measures in the Unit Plan also indicate how the unit will measure the Student Services SLOs identified in this document. Using both quantitative and qualitative data, the chair or coordinator and dean will work with the total department to identify what is needed to effectively operate the department to assist students and staff in being successful. After many discussions and review of data, objectives are developed within each area of a department. It is expected that everyone in the department would contribute to the development of the objectives. Once the area completes and prioritizes their objectives, they are combined in a plan for the department to review and prioritize. The dean reviews the objectives, and makes appropriate changes.

The Student Services Deans, Associate Vice President, and Vice President of Student Services will meet prior to the January due date to provide College Service Area (CSA) rankings to the PRIE Office who will review all unit plan objectives and identify those with highest priority to move forward for institutional consideration.

As determined by the College Strategic Planning Committee (CSPC) the maximum number of objectives that can be ranked for Student Services is forty (40). Initially, the Deans, AVP and VP will identify each of their top five (5) objectives for vetting to determine a second ranking of these objectives from one through twenty. Each objective is then ranked by the administrator and the average score begins the ranking process for the first twenty objectives. Discussions are held to determine the order of the objectives, with tied scores discussed to determine their rank.

This process is then repeated for the division objectives ranked five through ten. The result will yield another twenty objectives to be added to the first twenty to meet the Students Services CSA maximum number of ranked objectives to move forward for institutional planning and resource allocation (if required). This process is then repeated for the division objectives ranked five through ten. The result will yield another twenty objectives to be added to the first twenty to meet the Students Services CSA maximum number of ranked objectives to move forward for institutional planning and resource allocation (if required).

The forty prioritized CSA objectives for student services are then placed into the Student Services College Service Area (CSA) column for submission to the PRIE office. All unit planning objectives, after the forty have been identified and prioritized, will be numbered starting with forty-one.

Program Review uses both quantitative and qualitative data to assess the effectiveness of programs and services, and uses this evaluation as a basis for improvement. Based on standards described by the Council for the Advancement of Standards and outlined in Assessment Practice in Student Affairs (Schuh & Upcraft, 2001), program review allows us to measure the extent to which institutional goals are being met, understand how we are meeting students' needs, measure the quality of services, define goals and objectives, highlight areas that need to be resolved to help the college fulfill its mission, and respond to student needs. The Program Review is conducted by the members of the unit every three (3) years according to the calendar below. HCD and Work Experience are on a six-year academic program review cycle. The process begins in February, with a meeting with the department Dean and the Vice President of Student Services. At this meeting the assessment process will be reviewed and an assessment team will be chosen. The data to be used in the program review are identified and collected. The draft of the program review is due to the Vice President in April. The Vice President will review the draft document and provide feedback to the review team.

The final written report is due to the Vice President by May. The VP then reviews the program review reports with the Deans to identify progress towards achieving the previously established outcomes as well as identifying recommendations for improvement. Areas needing improvements will be identified and tracked through the unit planning process to check for continuous progress.

The Program Review report includes a comprehensive review of workflow, functional analysis, accountability, technical resources, communications and relations. The Program Review process addresses the question: "How are we doing related to achieving what we set out to accomplish?" In the Program Review process, each unit reviews its Unit Plan outcome measures and accomplishments for each year since the previous Program Review. During Program Review the unit also reports on its outcome data related to the Student Services SLOs identified in this document. Based on this comprehensive review, each unit includes proposed objectives and required resources in the Program Review to use for unit planning in the next program review cycle.

Outcome Measurement

Achievement of strategic planning goals, strategies, and objectives will be measured through surveys, evaluations, successful completion of goals and objectives, SLO assessments, SSSP core standards completion, as well as qualitative and quantitative methodologies. Outcomes will have periodic reviews throughout the semester and reported in the unit plan and program review annual reports.

New Program Development

Plans for new Student Services programs to improve retention and student success rates for students are facilitated through the unit planning process. Only programs that are data-driven through the unit planning process, the program review and thoroughly vetted within the departments and division are given approval to be submitted for funding and implementation as a pilot program. The Vice president of Student Services will also share the anticipated and potential programs with the other vice presidents and the president of the college for collaborative opportunities.

Additional Resources

Additional resources for required student success programming mandated by the California State Chancellor's Office go beyond the scope of one's department or unit and require additional funding through the Student Success and Support Planning process. The purpose of the Student Success and Support Program (SSSP) Plan (Credit Students) is for the college to plan and document how SSSP services will be provided to credit students. The goal of the Student Success and Support Program is to increase student access and success by providing students with core SSSP services, including (1) orientation (2) assessment and placement (3) counseling, advising, and (4) other education planning services, and the support services to assist them in achieving their educational goals and declared course of study.

More specifically, colleges are to:

- Provide at least an abbreviated ISEP to all entering students with a priority focus on students who enroll to earn degrees, career technical certificates, transfer preparation, or career advancement.
- Provide orientation, assessment, placement, counseling, advising and other education planning services to all first-time students.
- Provide students with any assistance needed to define their course of study and develop a comprehensive Student Education Plan by the end of the third term, but no later than completion of 15 units.
- Provide follow-up services, especially to students identified as at-risk (students enrolled in basic skills courses, students who have not identified an education goal and course of study, or students on academic or progress probation).

The SSSP and Equity Teams provide additional resources to the college as a whole when departments identify in their unit plans that they are implementing programs that are directly related to the SSSP. If the department is awarded funding, quarterly monitoring on how the funds are being utilized is coordinated by the Associate Vice Presidents office. Finally, all departments are brought together towards the end of the semester to submit documentation on how successful they have been in meeting identified goals and objectives from written proposals. The Student Success and Support Plan will be integrated into almost every department in Student Services and each department will be responsible for assessing their level of success in meeting the goals of the SSSP plan. The unit planning process will serve as the catalyst to identify how the goals will be achieved and measured.

Long Range Vision

The Student Services VP, AVP, and Deans meet in a retreat in the spring/summer time frame each year to review this Institutional Plan and develop an integrated long range vision for Student Services. This vision provides the basis for creating and prioritizing unit plans.

Vision for SCC Student Services
1. Culture of Evidence
2. Customer Service
3. Integrate planning
4. Provide student support services to outreach centers

Each of the four vision objectives were met during the previous Master Plan.

(1) Culture of evidence:

Each department has produced evidence and data regarding student success, operational management based on student need, program reviews based on data, assessment of Student Learning Outcomes (SLO) used to provide direction in helping students meet goals, use of Community College Survey Student Engagement data in how decisions are made and data usage, even in contract negotiations.

(2) Customer Service:

The Student Services division advocated for a new Student Services building and was successful in getting approval to build a new facility, which will accommodate “front door services” for new and continuing students. After many meetings, surveys and Student Service Institutes, a decision was made by the planning team to relocate Admission and Records, Disabilities Services, Assessment, Outreach, Orientation and two counselors to the new building. The close proximity will encourage collaboration of these departments’ to help create the college’s One Stop Center.

(3) Integrated Services:

Student Services has worked toward integrating categorical budgets into the college wide budget process. Student services has also continued to programmatically and operationally integrate with instruction by sharing faculty, staff, administrators and planning processes. Also, within student services departments, we have supported other student services departments financially and through sharing staff.

(4) Student Support to Centers:

All areas of Student Services are visible at the centers with deans and staff maintaining a close relationship by attending staff meetings, identifying data informed needs and providing financial support for programming including Student Leadership and Development and the Cultural Awareness Center.

Long Range Visions 2016 and Beyond

- Identify and find solutions to issues that arise from relocating departments into the new Student Services building by using surveys, comment reports, observations, etc.
- Encourage staff to actively participate in creating a positive and productive work environment.
- Based upon data, relocate remaining Student Services departments.
- Create a Call Center in the new Student Services building.
- Increase Student Success and Support Core Standard Completion rates
- Produce new student information in a "411 to Success" format.
- Use social media to communicate with the entire student body for emergencies and general information.

Key Issues for Planning

Retention and Timely Completion

Retention is a complex problem. The focus on completion has the potential to influence the projectory of long term success and survival of students. The college is experiencing the same demographic changes as the community at-large. The potential for educating all students will depend substantially on the ability of faculty and staff to be able to relate to and utilize teaching practices that reflect the changes occurring demographically, often referred to as culturally responsive teaching practices. That is part of the challenge of retention. Being able to relate to the students being served, including building relationships, has the potential to improve retention rates. Teaching and learning go hand in hand. The focus on student learning is key. Students have to internalize the pathway to completion, instead of an often fragmented course-by-course set of classes to endure.

Positive results from accountability measures, effectiveness and quality services and instruction as part of the accountability process of faculty and staff will encourage opportunities for students to commit to the timely completion of their educational goals, excluding things that are beyond college control. Focusing on those things that are important and satisfying to students and teaching in a manner they can relate to play an essential role in retaining students for the long haul.

There are a number of variables involved in students completing their education in a timely fashion. Surveying, compiling and analyzing information throughout the student's college experience done by faculty and staff, as well as helping them with written plans, along with periodic checking will help them see that others are invested in the completion of their educational goals.

Access

Access plays a major role in meeting the educational needs of the communities we serve. As a result, community colleges have become more essential. Four-year institutions expect students to come prepared to succeed, as well as come with the prerequisite skills needed for that success. Unfortunately, for whatever reason(s), today's graduating seniors are not as prepared as necessary for success in that setting. As a result, community colleges must provide instruction in developmental education as a service to students needing those skills to ensure success. One of our goals is to help our students become prepared for the rigor required academically, for the transition to either work or transfer to four year colleges.

Financial Aid

Cost is a major factor. Without financial aid, students will have to limit the opportunities available to them to pay for tuition and other requirements to attend. Outreach to students, in collaboration with financial specialists, counselors in high school and counselors in college can help direct students to financial aid opportunities with which they may not be familiar or know exist or are potentially qualified to receive to attend or continue their education. Institutional funding, as well as other outside sources, will be keys to maintaining student enrollment. Some of the best and brightest students and those students who are most likely to be at risk may be denied an education because they lack information regarding financial aid.

A number of our students, through no fault of their own, have parents who are unable to assist with enrollment fees because of their low income status. Such families generally qualify and live in low income housing and receive other state and federal assistance. Oftentimes, although some students complete high school, they must work to help their families financially. Such students qualify for financial aid. If ongoing attention is given to the financial needs of students, the college's retention rates will improve. Dropout rates will decline.

The Need for Students to Go to College

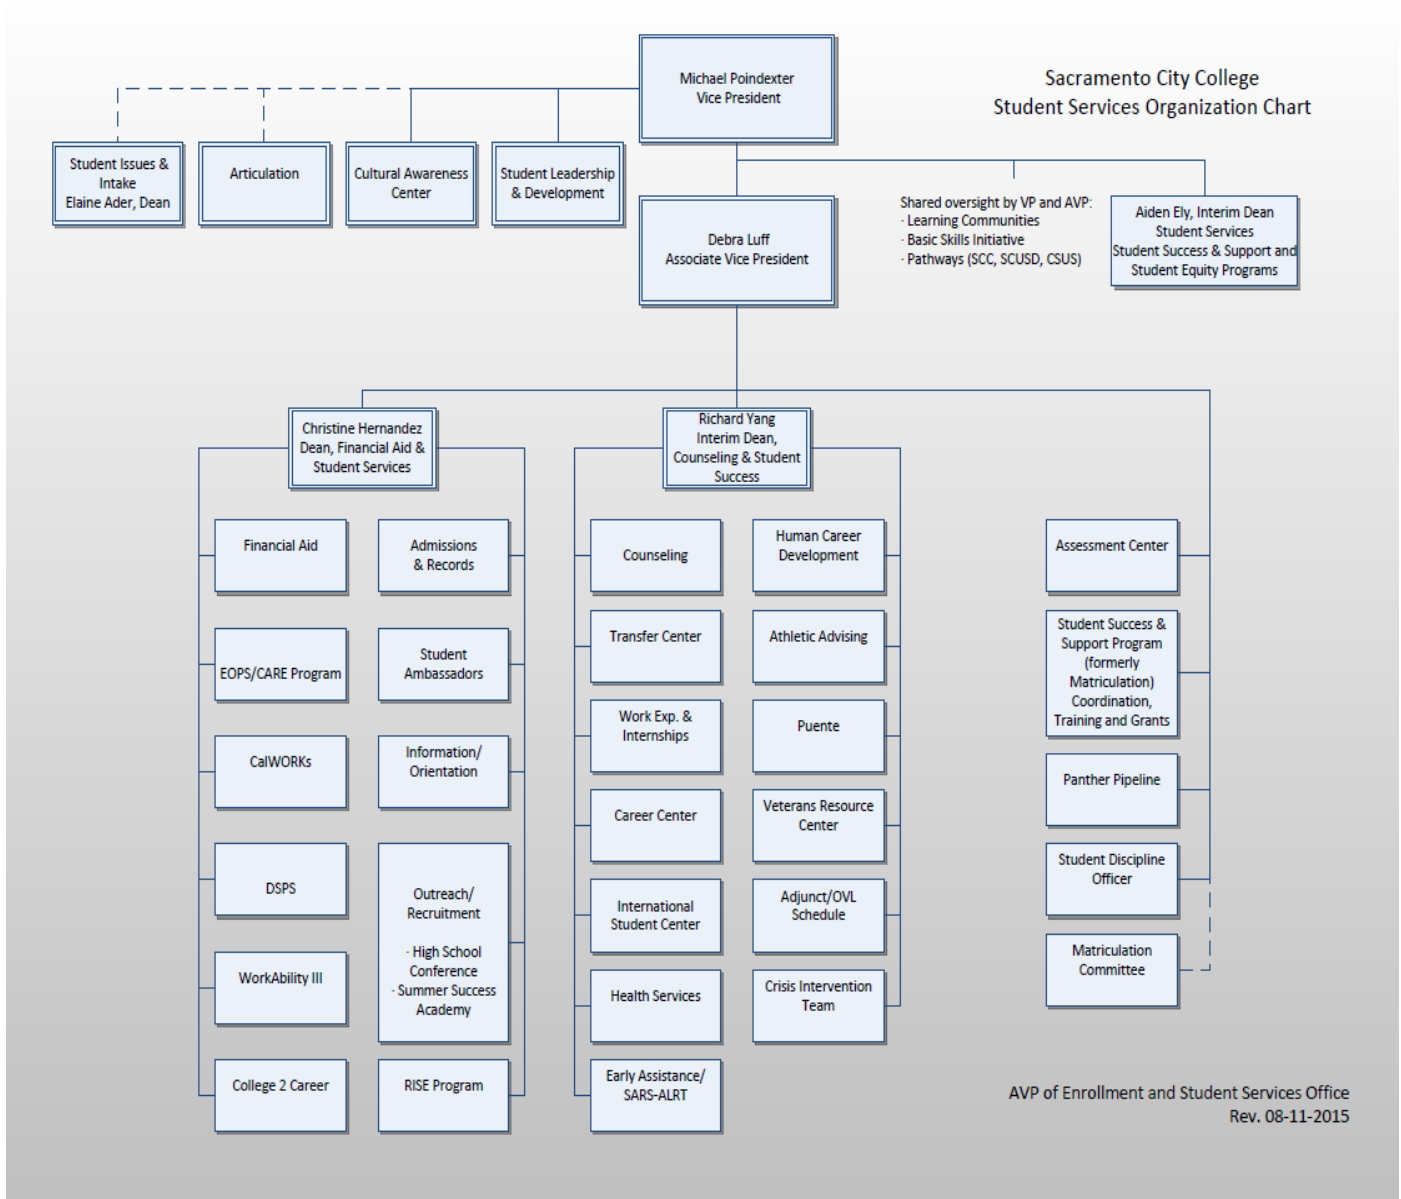

The Department of Education mandated that secondary schools throughout the United States be required to focus on preparing all students for college or job readiness, in an effort to improve their lives when they join the workforce or attend college. Community colleges have served as the institution to fill the void for those students who graduate, and are not prepared to enter the workforce. The goal is to help students have a competitive edge.

The previous standards in schools did not focus on skills necessary for success. They did not focus on preparing students for the years after high school—for “the real world.” Currently, educators are being made aware of the fact that it is their responsibility to prepare students for work and/or college, not simply get the correct number of credits to graduate. Students are frequently ill-prepared to do either.

Community colleges have served as the education setting to help prepare students for four year colleges, and especially those students with the desire to continue their education but lack skills in math, language arts and technology communications.

21st century global society requires students to go beyond high school and have the skills, knowledge and understandings necessary to successfully compete in the current job market, as well as have the ability to compete against international students, coming from countries that are frequently ranked substantially and consistently higher than students graduating in the United States, especially in the areas of math and science. Some form of college has become essential to succeed and compete in our society.

Admissions & Records

The primary purpose of Admission and Records (A&R) is to facilitate admissions and registration, maintain accurate student records, and provide pertinent information to students, faculty and staff regarding college policies and procedures. Further, A&R processes and evaluates transcripts for certificates and degrees; certifies students' achievement of graduation requirements; provides leadership to college wide commencement ceremonies; and certifies the enrollment of students who receive benefits from the Department of Veterans Affairs. Information is staffed by A&R personnel and its mission is to provide general campus information to prospective, new and continuing students; promote and support the SSSP/Matriculation process for students; and support SOS (Students Obtaining Success) student awareness promotions.

What is the primary driver for the department's long-range 3-5 year goals?

The primary driver for both Admissions & Records and Information is student access. In the last three years we have implemented online transcript processing, degree audit, and the Fresh Start program for at-risk students. We want to continually increase the efficiency of our online services. For example: continuous improvement has been made with the online graduation and certificate application process; development of the degree audit feature within PeopleSoft, allowing students to self-assess their status in terms of graduation or transfer; the process to enter the college has been made more accessible by online services such as Orientation.

List the department's long-range (3-5 year) goals:

Moving forward:

1. Expand Fresh Start program to students below a 2.5 gpa
2. Increase degree audit usage
3. Increase graduation rates by engaging the campus community through workshops and classroom visits
4. Increase participation in our matriculation process (Steps to Success)

California Work Opportunity & Responsibility to Kids (CalWORKS)

Sacramento City College's CalWORKs Program collaborates with Department of Human Assistance, college programs and other local community agencies to provide comprehensive services to SCC CalWORKs students that promote self-sufficiency through education, vocational training, employment and support services. CalWORKs strives to help CalWORKs students obtain lifelong learning to gain access to the work force and a career, while providing support services that help ensure a successful transition.

What is the primary driver for the department's long-range 3-5 year goals?

The college CalWORKs Program is an interagency program that works in conjunction with county requirements. The primary, ongoing, driver for CalWORKs Program participants is preparation for self-sufficiency. CalWORKs students who complete either a certificate or degree are prepared for employment which leads to self-sufficiency. Work Experience Education and Internship Program

Mission of Department:

The Work Experience Education and Internship Program advances the mission of Sacramento City College by providing internships and work experience opportunities to qualified students through collaboration with our campus community and employers. We are an experiential academic program which allows students to apply what they have learned in the classroom to a work environment while earning college credit. Internships, coupled with Work Experience classes, promote student success and workforce development by encouraging students to identify career paths, pursue certificates and degrees tied to their chosen career path, and develop professional work skills through internships and work experience opportunities.

The Work Experience Education and Internship Program is here to assist students in finding internships and work experience opportunities related to their major and career interests. We assist students in exploring internships and work experience opportunities, while teaching them the necessary job search skills to pursue their own careers in the future. Our goal is to teach students workplace and job soft skills necessary to develop their own work experience opportunities in the future and play an active role in their own career development.

List the department's short-range (1- 3 years) goals:

1. Increase campus awareness and utilization of the Work Experience and Internship Program, including Davis Center and West Sacramento Center.
2. Increase visibility and student access of WEXP Program services, by relocating and expanding the Work Experience and Internship Program office, including hands on access to computers for students and WEXP staff to work one on one.
3. Hire and train a WEXP Program Internship Developer to assist in establishing employer relations and internship/work experience opportunities.

What is the primary driver for the department's short-range (1-3 year) goals?

1. By increasing awareness and utilization, we can provide more students with internship and work experience opportunities that will assist them in their academic major and career decision making process. Students will also gain a valuable understanding of their area of study and chosen major and in turn helps them better understand the coursework. They now have tangible "hands on" experience to tie to the textbook and classroom knowledge, which can lead to higher success in their studies.
2. Many internship opportunities are never utilized due to lack of awareness and visibility of program. The current location of the program has poor visibility and is buried within the area of another program. Students struggle with connecting the Work Experience Internship Program with career services provided on our campus, partially due to the disconnect in location from other career services and we have no area for students to sit and work on work experience internship tasks.
3. The program is currently functioning with minimal internship developer support after losing a full time position with no full time replacement in the plans.

List the Department's long-range (3-5 year) goals:

1. Continue to increase internship and work experience opportunities for students.
2. Continue to increase employer relations and community involvement.
3. Have an increased awareness and knowledge of internships and the program on the SCC campus, both by students and staff. Educate the staff and faculty on the importance of internships and utilization of the Work Experience Internship Program.

What is the primary driver for the Department's long-range (3-5 year) goals?

1. Increased internships and work opportunities for students assists in the academic major and career decision making process, which can lead to higher success rates by better understanding what it is they are studying and focus on a long term goal.
2. Increased employer relations and community involvement can lead to more internship and work experience opportunities.
3. The lack of awareness and knowledge of the Work Experience Internship Program; and the lack of understanding and knowledge from staff and faculty regarding internships and work experience opportunities provided by our program has caused many opportunities and employer contacts to go un-utilized.
